Heart fund reaches £100,000 milestone

By NEIL DOCKING

A British Heart Foundation appeal aiming to fund vital equipment for East Lancashire patients has hit the £100,000 mark.

The Heart of Blackburn Appeal hopes to raise £128,000 to pay for a 3D echocardiograph machine for the Royal Blackburn Hospital, which treats heart patients from across the whole of East Lancashire.

Echocardiographs are specialised tests which look at the structure of the heart.

A probe is placed on the chest and a pulse of high-frequency sound is passed through the skin.

The echoes reflected by the pulse show as a picture on a screen, providing extremely accurate, and detailed, information about the structure, valves, and pumping action of the heart, which helps doctors make more informed, and quicker, diagnoses.

Barbara Dunn, BHF fundraising and volunteer manager in Blackburn, said the new echocardiograph could save thousands of lives.

She said: "Heart disease is the nation's biggest killer and this life-saving equipment will greatly increase the chances of survival among patients in the area.

"I'd like to say a huge thank you to those who have fundraised so far, and I encourage those who haven't to help reach the target that we need to have this fantastic equipment in your local hospital."

Launched in May last year, the appeal reached £100,000 following donations from Dr Ravi Singh, a consultant cardiologist at Royal Blackburn Hospital, and a team from 3M asthma inhaler manufacturers, in Clitheroe.

Dr Singh raised around £6,000 when he held a charity ball at the Mytton Fold Hotel, Whalley, in November. Darren Jackson led a team of 10 cyclists from 3M on a 150-mile ride from Clitheroe to Bridlington, raising £1,880.

To find out how you can get involved with the appeal, call Barbara on 01772 641870, or email dunnb@bhf.org.uk or visit website bhf.org.uk/blackburnappeal

Homes plan back before councillors

A development which could see 106 homes built in Nelson is to go before councillors again today.

Planning permission was refused by the Nelson Area Committee for the former Jimmy Nelson's sports ground site, off Wickworth Street.

Coun Eileen Ansar voiced concerns that local schools could not accommodate an extra 200 to 300 pupils. The Gleeson Homes plan has been referred to Pendle's development management committee.

Speeding crackdown

A crackdown is being launched on speeding motorists in Brierfield. Police will target drivers in the Pennine Way area after complaints from residents.

St Patrick's Day fun

Burnley Mayor David Heginbotham and the mayoress will be hosting a St Patrick's Day party, with Irish dancing, music, and food, on March 17, at Towneley Hall. Tickets, costing £12.50, are available on 01282 426354. All proceeds will go to Pendleside Hospice.

Schoolchildren dig their pop-up farms

Makeshift farms are popping up at schools across East Lancashire as part of a ground-breaking project.

Thirty four primary schools in Burnley, Pendle, Rossendale, and Hyndburn, are taking part in the pop-up-farm project, set up by Start Sustainable Burnley, and also The Prince's Charities.

Children will grow their own vegetables, look after livestock, learn about biodiversity, keeping bees, testing out energy, water and waste- saving ideas, and also planting orchards.

Each school is being given a shed to keep in the school grounds, as part of the scheme to help children, teachers, parents, and the wider community, grow food.

The schools will also contribute a recipe to a cookbook, called 'Start Cooking up the Future', which will have quick and easy family meals based on things you could grow in your garden, and is set to be launched in the Asda Burnley store in the next few months.

LEARNING: St Leonard's pupils Poppy Pickles with Harry Wintersgill and Emily Middleton and scarecrows pupils made. Right, Professor Paul Clarke.

By KATE TURNER

The idea is the brainchild of Professor Paul Clarke, founder of Incredible Edible in Todmorden, who said that rather than taking kids to the farm to learn about food, a pop-up-farm could be brought to them.

Julie Bradley, headteacher of St Lenoard's CE Primary School, Padiham, one of the first to be involved in the scheme, said: "The hope is that all the schools in East Lancashire will have pop-up-farms."

Mr Clarke said pop-up-farms can challenge us in unexpected ways, in unexpected places.

Pharmacy milestone

A pharmacy in Colne is celebrating its 90th year in business with a series of special events.

Leedhams', in Keighley Road, will hold an open day on March 19, with free health checks and blood pressure testing for customers.

Matthew Leedham, the third generation of Leedham pharmacists, said: "This is just the start. We have a number of events planned throughout the year to celebrate such an important anniversary.

"We're kicking off on March 19 as that was my father's birthday."

HIVE OF ACTIVITY: Towneley Park bee-keeper Dave Rayner

Getting busy to save bees

By KATE TURNER

A ground-breaking breeding project has been set up in East Lancashire to save a native British bee from extinction.

The British black honey bee, which is indigenous to England, has suffered a dramatic decline in numbers during the 20th century due to Isle of Wight disease.

Now Offshoots Permaculture Project, run by the environmental organisation Groundwork Pennine Lancashire, has set up a two-year programme, called Bees in the Borough, which aims to create 200 hives holding 10million bees.

Volunteers have been taking part in bee-keeping courses in the grounds of Offshoots, at Toweneley Park, Burnley, and will be given hives to keep in their gardens to spread out the bee population.

Bee-friendly plants are also being distributed across local parks.

Groundwork's resident bee-keeper Dave Rayner said: "So far we have given starter colonies to people in the Ribble Valley, and will be giving 200 in total to people living in East Lancashire, specifically those who have attended the courses.

DECLINE: British black honey bee

"The idea is that we create new starter, smaller colonies with queen bees, drones and workers.

"These will then be given to people to keep in their gardens, hopefully distributing them, so the queen is more likely to mate with other bees, and so increase the population.

"We are fortunate in Burnley to be surrounded by high moorlands. This provides a unique delivery opportunity to sufficiently escalate the black honey bee gene pool without it being diluted as queens and drones go beyond the moorland edges. Without the bees, we could lose a lot of our native plants."

Glimpse of prison for troubled teens

More than 100 youngsters in Burnley and Pendle — some of whom were being tempted away from the straight and narrow — have been given a stark reminder of what prison life means.

Work to educate youngsters on the perils of custody by the county's constabulary has now earned an award from the High Sheriff of Lancashire.

Peter Mileham has presented the Shrievalty Rosebowl to community officers, for the Preston Prison based initiative.

Now two years old, the scheme has seen 115 young people given a tour of the jail, and be given the inside track on life behind bars from experienced prison officers. Further advice has been given on drug and alcohol misuse, bullying and anti-social behaviour — the youngsters were also able to speak to inmates and ask questions about prison life.

Lindsay Frew, the community engagement officer, who arranged the sessions, said: "The visits are not intended to scare or intimidate the children but are an opportunity for them to see the reality of prisons and learn about the routines, facilities and ultimately, the consequences of crime.

"It is useful for the children to hear how the prisoners were drawn into crime and it is hoped that hearing their experiences will make the children think twice before making the same decisions."

"It is fantastic to have been recognised by the High Sheriff and I hope the project will continue to have a positive impact on the lives of local children."

The annual award is given to projects which use funding from the Lancashire Partnership Against Crime to effectively reduce crime and anti-social behaviour.

'Give us any old bikes' appeal

A social enterprise that works with adults who have learning, or physical, disabilities is appealing for unwanted bikes.

Fresh Fields wants donations of old bikes in order to give its new cycling club a boost.

Gail Harvey-Clapham, manager at Fresh Fields, based in Cemetery Lane, Burnley, said: "We are looking for any old bikes.

"If people are thinking of throwing old bikes away, then please give us a call.

"It doesn't matter if it has a buckled wheel, or even if we just use some parts from it."

The group currently works with around 30 to 40 people who primarily do horticulture and gardening activities.

Anybody interested in donating an old bike should call Fresh Fields on 01282 832820.

RECORD ATTEMPT: It is hoped 2,000 walkers in witch-style fancy dress will climb Pendle

'Greatest witches gathering' goal

By PATRICK SCOTT

Thousands of witches are to take to Pendle Hill as part of a unique world record attempt.

The event is being arranged to coincide with the 400th anniversary of the Pendle Witch trials.

Organisers are hoping that around 2,000 people will take part in witch-style fancy dress to create a new record in the Pendle Witch Walk, on Saturday, August 18.

And they are hoping to raise around £50,000 for Pendleside Hospice in the process.

Experts from Guinness World Records said there is currently no similar record in place.

Simon Tattersall, one of the organisers of the event, said: "It's great news that Pendle Witch Walk has been recognised by Guinness World Records as an official attempt. Clearly that means we need as many people as possible to visit the website and register to join the festivities.

"We're hoping for a great event and a truly memorable day.

"The world record attempt for the greatest gathering of "witches" will bring huge positive attention to Pendle and our history but, more to the point, we hope that, via their sponsors, walkers will raise in excess of £50,000 for Pendleside Hospice."

The five-mile walk will start from Barley, before climbing to the summit of Pendle Hill, and ending in Barley Green. At Barley Green, there will be a family-centred event, with food and entertainment. For more details, visit www.pendlewitchwalk.co.uk

Join Race for Life celebration

The annual Race for Life event in Burnley was launched this week at Towneley Hall.

Cancer Research UK is urging women in Burnley to take part in the fundraiser, on Sunday, May 20.

The Race for Life event will take place around Towneley Park and is a 5k circuit, which women can walk, jog, or run.

Imogen Johnson, Cancer Research UK's Burnley events manager, said: "It's all of us versus cancer, and we need you to join the fight as soon as possible.

"Race for Life is not about being fast, or fit. Instead, it's a celebration of sisterhood and hope.

"Most women are able to walk 5k in an hour, while chatting and having fun.

"The really startling fact is that in the same period of time, around four people in the North West will be diagnosed with cancer.

"We want to encourage women of all ages, shapes, and sizes, to enter Race for Life today."

Horoscopes with Claire Petulengro

Aries — March 21st-April 20th
You have a difficult decision to make but once you have made up your mind, stick to it and have the courage to see it through as it is for the best in the long run. This, my friend will be your formula for success. New faces you meet at this time prove more memorable than you may at first imagine. Give me a ring now to hear why it's worth being extra nice to Geminis this weekend.
Call: 0906 585 4516

Taurus — April 21st-May 21st
Some sort of change is apparent in your personal appearance which may attract more attention from those around you than usual. Your social life appears to brighten considerably this week. If you want a light hearted romance with no strings attached you should be lucky, but don't get too involved or you could end up getting hurt. Call me now to hear which sign would last a life time.
Call: 0906 585 4517

Gemini — May 22nd-June 21st
You need to devote a little more time to a younger person if you want to understand them better. If you are ambitious, an influential person you come into contact with could help you climb another step up the career ladder. Beware of shady financial deals and check carefully before you part with any money. Give me a ring now to hear why it's worth listening to your dreams this week.
Call: 0906 585 4518

Cancer — June 22nd-July 23rd
Friends appear to be more prominent than usual in your affairs. A heart to heart talk with someone should help you to solve a personal problem which has been worrying you for some time. Call: 0906 585 4519

Leo — July 24th-August 23rd
Some sort of upheaval is likely in a personal relationship which may be unsettling emotionally. You have the opportunity to broaden your horizons and should take full advantage of the situation. Call: 0906 585 4520

Virgo — August 24th-September 23rd

Someone you come into contact with for the first time makes a big impression upon you. Don't be shy; this could be your first and last chance to get to know them better. Ring me now for a long term view on life and love.
Call: 0906 585 4521

Libra — September 24th-October 23rd
Don't be too shy to ask other people for favours as they will be only too willing to help. This really is your time. Ring me now so I can tell you all about your future.
Call: 0906 585 4523

Sagittarius — November 23rd-December 21st

An important business matter may not be going quite to your liking and you will have to take some action before Thursday if you want to gain control again. Links with foreign countries prove exciting and maybe even life changing. Ring now to find out with whom your future lies.
Call: 0906 585 4524

Capricorn — December 22nd-January 20th
This is an especially good time for those subjects who are taking any sort of a test or examination as you should be on top form. Call me now to hear how overseas links and contacts can make your life a better place to be.
Call: 0906 585 4525

Aquarius — January 21st-February 19th
Some sort of improvement is indicated in your surroundings. Try to be tolerant with someone you are not very fond of for the sake of a loved one. Follow your common sense and not your emotions when it comes to business and financial affairs. Energetic activities are highlighted on Thursday when you start to see how much opportunity you now have before you. Ring me now so I can tell you more.
Call: 0906 585 4526

Pisces — February 20th-March 20th
Your self discipline appears to be slipping and you may feel ashamed of yourself. However it is not too late to rectify the situation if you make a special effort now. Confide your anxieties in a close friend as they may be able to help. A new acquaintance begins to play a much more important role in your affairs and perhaps even your long term future. Call now to reveal an admirer you didn't know you had.
